

Tonight's Root Cause Analysis Presentation

March 1, 2022

Tonight, the District is eager to present the results of the Root Cause Analysis process. It is exciting to see how many community members have signed up to attend in person. At this time, the District is expecting more than 80 community members to be present in person. This level of engagement in this critical topic speaks highly of the school community and its commitment to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion.

Unfortunately, the interest (registration) has exceeded the available number of facilitators for the community member feedback activities that have been planned. The District wants every interested voice included and welcomes community feedback.

Based on the interest that has been expressed, the District will plan a second, identical event. Details of this event will be announced in the coming days.
