Irvington UFSD to Appoint Next Director of Technology

---

November 18, 2022

Dear Irvington school community,

I am very pleased to announce that the Irvington UFSD Board of Education will appoint Keith Baisley as director of technology during the November 22 Board of Education meeting.

I am excited to welcome Keith to the Irvington school community. He is a passionate educational leader who possesses a wealth of knowledge, skill and experience in the field of instructional technology. Working in partnership with the District's staff and students, Keith will help to shape innovative experiences to prepare our students for successful futures.

Keith most recently served as director of integrated technology for the New Paltz Central School District. During his tenure, he collaborated with each school to develop a shared vision and plan for the district and organized workshops and forums to communicate plans effectively with the community. Prior to that, he worked as a technology integration teacher in the Cornwall Central School District, technology coordinator in the New Paltz Central School District and technology teacher in the Arlington Central School District. Throughout his career, he has been instrumental in integrating technology into the curriculum and leading initiatives on new technology devices and innovative programs.

Keith is equally excited about joining the Irvington UFSD staff and eager to begin early January.

Please join me in congratulating Keith and welcoming him to the Irvington UFSD family.

Every student, every day,

Kris
